Sam Vokey, Demonstration in Oils

Sunday, March 12 2:00 - 4:00pm

Sam Vokey is an oil painter who specializes in landscapes and still life's and commissioned custom paintings.

He is an elected member of The Guild of Boston Artists and has won the designation of Copley Master from the Copley Society of Boston.

He attended the R.H.Ives Gammell Atelier in Boston. This was a European style atelier whose students worked closely with a master painter to learn the fundamentals of painting still life, landscape, portrait and figurative work.

His painting style is most closely associated with the Boston School tradition of painting which crosses Realism with some of the softer edges and painterly qualities of Impressionism. Vokey's still life's and landscapes demonstrate a strong consideration for creating balance between the overall composition and the light and dark values in his paintings.

Sam has had many one-man and group shows, has won many awards and is found in many collections. Mr Vokey's paintings have been included in many books and magazines including the cover of the book The Boston School and was also the cover artist of an issue of American Artist magazine.

Join us for this wonderful opportunity to watch him work, ask questions and be inspired.
