"I have been dreaming about this for years!"

"What happens when you invite artisans from any one of nine different guilds to reach across the artistic aisle, and join together to create original works of art? The individuals could start out as friends or strangers. In either event, they would bring their own history and skills to the table, looking to create something that neither one would have been able to produce on their own.

Allocating resources, materials, time, and value between two artists requires a certain amount of back and forth, something that a solo artist does not typically have to think about.

Therefore, we are naming this gallery event "The ART of NEGOTIATION" to present these highly original combined works."

- Bobbi Tornheim, Wood Artist
